VI. Season Appendix – Special Season Settings: In the following chapter you are going to find information about special season settings that may be only valid for the currently running season.

VI.1 General season settings

Finals and GhR gametypes

No SuperFinals will be played in the GhR and RvS Advanced ladders. Instead there is a midseason farewell tourney. As a consequence the season winner of the Advanced ladder is the top ranked clan at the end of the season. Beside that also the tourney winners will be added to the Hall of Fame.

New GhostRecon gametypes as well as modified and improved spawnpoints will be added appr. during the first week of the season and are mandatory. Check for updated game settings once the GhR season XIV update has been released.

VI.2 Game season settings

Americas Army

AA rule set \(http://www.damnr6.com/yabbse/index.php?topic=9601.0\)

Due the lack of rule feedback, the rules may not consider the latest AA versions. You are free to change the rules and or add your own rulesets to this thread, until we add a final version to the *DBL rules.

Challenges are also possible.

GhR/RvS Farewell Tourney settings

Settings:

The Farewell tourneys will be played as Best of 5 cb series(first who wins 3 cbs is the winner). The cb length is the same as the corresponding Adv cb length. The semifinals will be played on saturday while the finals are played on sunday. Starting time is as usual 7:00PM CEST in GameRanger. Contrary to other tournaments there are no enforced time limits or breaks between a cb. You are finished when a winner has been determined.

SemiFinals brackets:

- (A) 1st top ranked clan vs. 2nd most active clan
- (B) 2nd top ranked clans vs. 1st most active clan

Finals bracket:

Winner A vs. Winner B

Dates:

GhR Farewell Tourney: 22nd/23rd July 2006

RvS Farewell Tourney: 29th/30th July 2006

Qualification Deadline GhR/RvS Tourney:

16th July 2006 (12:00AM)

Qualification Requirements:

It is required that you sign up at the Tourney ladder and the corresponding Advanced ladder.

The 2 top ranked clans and the 2 most active clans(in terms of played cbs and different from 2 top ranked) from the Advanced ladder until the qualification deadline qualify and participate at the tournament.
